PARTNERING CONFERENCE
FOR TECHNOLOGY TRANSFER
IN LIFE SCIENCES

mission

bionection pairs up basic and applied research with innovative enterprises to foster new products. We bring together top scientists and technology transfer professionals with the international life science industry.

vision

Symbiosis of independent research and industry-pull to enforce market-oriented developments.

organisation

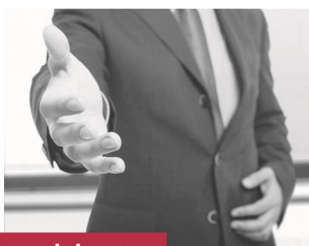

The partnering conference is organised and hosted by biosaxony - the association for life sciences in Saxony.

biosaxony

technology offers

Researchers present their valuable technology towards industry partners aiming to find cooperations. They will give pitch presentations and explain their outstanding ideas at poster sessions.

industry delegates

Agents from the industry find new technologies for product development and innovation in their company. They offer cooperation with the help of presentations, at their booth space in the exhibition area as well as during panel sessions towards all the audience.

1-on-1 meetings

For 1-on-1 meetings at the conference site all parties can pre-screen the participants online and arrange appropriate appointments.
