

Product information and liability disclaimer for plastic visors

Description: In response to the SARS-CoV-2/COVID-19 pandemic and the resulting supply shortages of protective equipment in the broadest sense, a loose alliance of research institutions and companies has been formed in Dresden under the umbrella of DRESDEN-concept and biosaxony e. V., which produces plastic visors for medical and care facilities in Eastern Saxony. The plastic visors are provided by us free of charge and must neither be resold nor offered for sale. Since the production process involves various facilities, and different equipment and materials are used, the design (e.g. the colour of individual components) may vary. This does not affect the function.

Further information on this initiative is available on the Internet at:

We would like to thank all institutions, companies, and individuals who support this initiative with money, donations in kind, equipment or personnel.

Liability disclaimer: Our plastic visors are not medical products or personal protective equipment in the sense of the relevant special legal regulations (in particular Medical Products Act [Medizinproduktegesetz] and PPE Regulation).

The products are not certified and neither medically nor otherwise tested.

These are makeshift products designed to cushion the acute shortage of material caused by the SARS-CoV-2/COVID-19 pandemic. They are not intended to be used beyond the duration of the SARS-CoV-2/COVID-19 pandemic.

Individuals wearing our plastic visors can especially not rely on the visors to protect them or others from infection with the SARS-CoV-2, as no such protective effect has been proven for these visors. The plastic visors are merely intended to provide a simple barrier between the pathogen and the wearer. The visors are not respiratory masks for medical personnel according to occupational health and safety regulations and therefore can not replace wearing such masks. The visors are used at one's own risk.
